ONE YEAR..... Two Dollars if not paid in advance.

STRANGE, IF TRUE.

The correspondent of the News and Courier of a recent date says that the State Financial Board has offers for the State's stock in the Augusta and Knoxville Railroad, but that the persons biding and the amounts offered are withheld and that the Comptroller General was authorized to receipt and act upon such bids as he deemed best. This seems to us a little strange, and knowing Gen-backers, they will be able to elect the Speaker and officers of the House. The Tribune, however, says that Speaker Randall is arranging to be the next Speaker, even if no Democratic gain is made. It asserts that he will be able to secure the vote of Mr. Brumm, of the Thirteenth Pennsylvania District, who was elected by a union of the Republican and Greenback vote. The obstacle in the way of this plan is suggested to be that certain Southern Democrats who do not like Mr. Randall will not vote for him, but if any certainty of his election can be made evident, we apprehend that party discipline has been sufficiently restored to give him the solid Democratic vote. We think it hardly probable that such a

In the course of his speech he said:

the Army of the Potomac in Hartford sact bids as he deemed best. This seems to us a little strange, and knowing General Bratton as well as we do, we expect to see him refer the whole matter where it belongs—to the next Legisleture. As far as we can accertain, the Financial Board has no right to sell this stoket. It belongs to the State, and the Comptroller General is only its custodian, not its owner. It also seems rather arbitrary for this Board to refuse to allow the people of South Carolina t's know what is bid and who are the parties desiring to purchase stock belonging to the people. The secrecy which these gentlemen maintain on this question is unjustifiable arbitrary, and any sale made by them would be an usurpation of authority. If the State parts with her stock, it should be disposed of to some corporation or individuals who are in friendly accord with the luterests of the State, and the people along the line of the road. These are questions of State policy which are more important than a few cents on the dollar in, the sale of stock, and should not be neglected or overlooked. The State had better hold the stock than to allow it to pass into the hands of any corporation unfriendly to the best interests of the sale.

A QUESTIONABLE ARRANGEMENT.

WHICH HORN, MR. GARFIELD?

A. M. Gibson, for many years past the Washington correspondent of the New York Sun, has been employed to aid in the investigation of the star route frauds In view of the fact that Gibson has repeatedly charged the President with bribe-taking, perjury and other crimes, in connection with Credit Mobilier, Salary Grab. DeGoylear contract and other matters, this employment is creating considerable comment. The Capital, one of Star Route Brady's organs, concludes a two-column article to President Garfield in the following logical, plat and emphatic language:

The trial of Wm. Henry Priester, for a pretty exhibition of the inwardness of the murder of his father in Barnwell the party of great moral ideas. The Republicans of Ohio have renominated Foster for Governor, and endorsed President Garfield's administration. The nomination of Foster is a strong one, but it is said the stalwarts are immensely disgusted at the endorsement of Mr Garfield, and that they will not participate in the coming fight. If this prove true, the Democrats will carry the State, and they may do it even if the stalwarts do the best they can. There are a number of aspirants for the the Democratic nomination which will soon be made, but the strongest suggestion is to nominate Thurman for Governor. He would undoubtedly poll the largest possible Democratic vote, and could now accept the nomination without endangering his chances for promotion, as he is out of public life and cannot hope to get into it again, except by some such action on Lis part as the coming canvass will give him the opportunity to perform. If Thurman is the Democratic nominee, the cauvass will be an able and inspiriting one, with every prospect of a favorable issue.

The prohibition movement in North Carolina has progressed to the extent of ordering a vote of the people of the State for or against it, which will be had in August next, when the majority is to decide the question of prohibiting the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors. Everything has progreased easily and without any manifes tation of political manipulation until recently. In the meantime the Republicans have kept quiet until the Democratic politicians and newspapers have fully committed themselves to the cause of prohibition, and now they come out in solid opposition to it. The result is that every negro in the State will vote against prohibition, and perhaps enough white men to defeat the law. The Republicans then will claim it as a victory, and seek to make political capital out of it. Our trouble in the South is, that we have to contend with a party without principle, which votes as a machine for the worst side of every question submit-

The present session of the Leg-islature costs the people of New York taxpavers of the State will find Masses Conkling and Platt the most costly Senators they have ever been called upon to select successors for. This proceeding is the present dominant party.

Gen. Grant has been heard from again. tous turn American politics have recently assumed from a stalwart standpoint. The ex-President at present sees no road to the American empire of which he has been dreaming for the past fifteen years. The conflict between Garfield and Conkling excites his ire, and he very plainly denounces Garfield, and defends Conkling in a decided manner. He pronounces Garfield ungrateful, and is certain Conkling will be re-elected. Altogether, we think the would-be emperor's expressions are more vindictive than reasonable. It is none of Gen. Grant's immediate business, and there is little cause for his fury about the little

President Hayes says Mr. Conkling is crazy. He considers him a monamanise on the subject of his own selfimportance. Mr. Hayes thought Conkling a man of great importance a little over four years ago, when it was feared himself half so high as Mr. Hayes estimated him then. Times, however, have changed since then, and in the light of any one to have committed a fraud to make him President. To this extent the ex-Presidents suspicion as to Mr. Conkling's mental condition.

Franklin J. Moses, of South Carolina, a son of Ex-Gov. Franklin J. Moses, jr., of this State, has just graduated at the John L. Schoch, of Pennsylvania, who is just twenty-one years old, achieved the highest honor of the class. Among the other features of interest in this class is the fact that it contained two Japaners youths who stood number 14 and number 26 in the class. Considering the fact that they were studying in a foreign language, their stand is excellent, and evidences very thorough comprehension, of

No plan has as yet been adopted, but an effort will be made to have a separate vote upon the question of license or no license, in order to enable every citizen to vote for the men of his choice for councilmen, and at the same time vote as his conscience and judgment may dictate upon the issue of "license" or "no

Depew says he had nothing to do with the bribery of Bradley, and that from a consciousness of integrity and innocence on his part, he desires a fu'l and complete investigation of the whole matter. This sounds prettily, but the people have become familiar with such devices on the part of Republican officials. Mr. Depew may be correct in his assertions, but it will require more than his mere state-ment to induce the public to believe that he had no connection with or knowledge of corrupt influences brought to bear to secure accessions to his vote for the Senate.

The good effects of Senator Brown's fight in the Senate continue to develop. His policy having been adopted not only inspirited the Democracy, whipped out the Mahone bargain and sale, gave occasion for the rupture between Conkling and the President, drove Conkling from the Senate, and produced the dead-lock at Albany, but it has developed the rottenness of New York Republicans in the bribery of members of the Legislature on the Senatorial election. A little back-bone is a valuable possession to a political party.

General Gordon's company for building the Georgia Pacific Railroad, and the Clyde Company for the construction of the Atlanta and Alabama Railroad, have consolidated under the name of the former, and will proceed at once to the construction of the road-from Atlanta to the Mississippi River. Gen. Gordon will be president, and the whole road will be put under contract immediately: Its construction will give the Clydes a clear sweep from Richmond to the great Mississippi, with the center of their system resting at Atlanta.

The candidates for the Democratic nomination for Virginia are very numerous, numbering in their list many of the ablest and most honored names of the State. Mr. Gibson is a libeller to the taking of one ballot each day to prove that the dead-lock continues. Conkling takes no notice of Hayes' declaration of his belief that he is insane. This is rather damaging to the correctness of the ex-President's opinion on this question. It is, however, only a persistence in a way that Mr. Conkling has of wasting no time in sheeting at dead ducks.

The Democrata of Virginia will hold their convention to nominate State officers in August, and from that time forward the Old Dominion will be ablaze with the fire of a contest whose result will so closely affect the honor and welfare of the great old commonwealth.

Mr. Davis' book is out and delivered to those who have subscribed for it-the predictions of Gen. Robert Toombs to the contrary notwithstanding. Perhaps Gen. Toombs needed a prohibition law at the time he made this prediction.

Fred. Grant has resigned his Colonelcy in the United States Army to accept the Presidency of a new railroad in Texas. He seems to follow very closely the example of his father.

South Florida's escape from the disastrous "cold wave," so blighting in its effect, has turned many an eye to this gouisl and favored section of the country, and even her own inhabitants are aroused to a just appreciation of her advantages. AS long been before the public, and is too well known to need any further description. Its chief points of merits are: It takes very little room, is easily headled, and takes so little power; can be used on all kinds of powers—horse, water or steam. Ginning and packing can all go on at the same time, without interfering with the Gin. A two-inch belt will pack a 500 lb. bale of cotton. It saves its cost the first season in labor. Read the the same time, without interfering with the 6-in. A two-inch belt will pack a 500 lb. bale of cotton. It saves its cost the first season in labor. Read the following testimonials:

ANDERSON, S. C., April 30, 1851.—Mr. John E. Peoples—Sir: The Steam Power Van Winkle Cotton Press bought from you last fall has given entire satisfaction. I packet bales of cotton weighing 650 to 725 lbs. in five minutes with all case, using a 4-inch belt and 25 lbs. steam. There did not seem any more strain on the Press than with a 450 lb. bale. For strength, durability, lightness of power, small quantity of steam required, economy of space, I deem it the King of all Cotton Presses; especially so as the low price at which it can be bought for puts it within reach of every man running a steam 6ln. In fact, I would not be without it for twice its cost. I would advise all my friends to buy one of Van Winkle's Steam Power Cotton Presses, as you will save its cost in labor in one year.
